

FORUM FOR THE FUTURE OF AGRICULTURE

Media Invitation:

Food system resilience, sustainability and the COVID-19 crisis: Looking ahead to the German Presidency of the EU

As the pandemic has put a new focus on supply chains and the food system, the FFA moves online to share the expertise and experiences of our panel and look forward to the German Presidency of the Council of the EU. This first online edition will connect Brussels with Berlin to discuss food system resilience, sustainability and the COVID-19 crisis. Join the tête-à-tête conversation between Janez Potočnik, Chair FFA2020 and Chairman RISE Foundation, and Catherine Geslain-Lanéelle, Deputy Head of Cabinet, EU Commissioner for Agriculture and Rural Development. A panel discussion will follow, moderated by Heike Zeller, Consulting group aHEU-Regionale Vermarktungsstrategien.

Ahead of the meeting, Janez Potočnik says: "The current pandemic has done much to expose, and sometimes worsen, many existing systemic food system problems from low wages, to overexploitation of natural resources, and fragile supply chains. We must build back better and smarter, and not shy away from using this crisis to create a more social, more environmental, and more equal world."

Join us on June 15 at 3 pm (CET) by registering below.

<http://www.forumforagriculture.com/regional-online/>

Please contact us at media@forumforagriculture.com for any specific side interview or media request. To find out more about our speakers you can visit www.forumforagriculture.com/regional-online/#speakers

In partnership with

